How to create a Mendeley Account
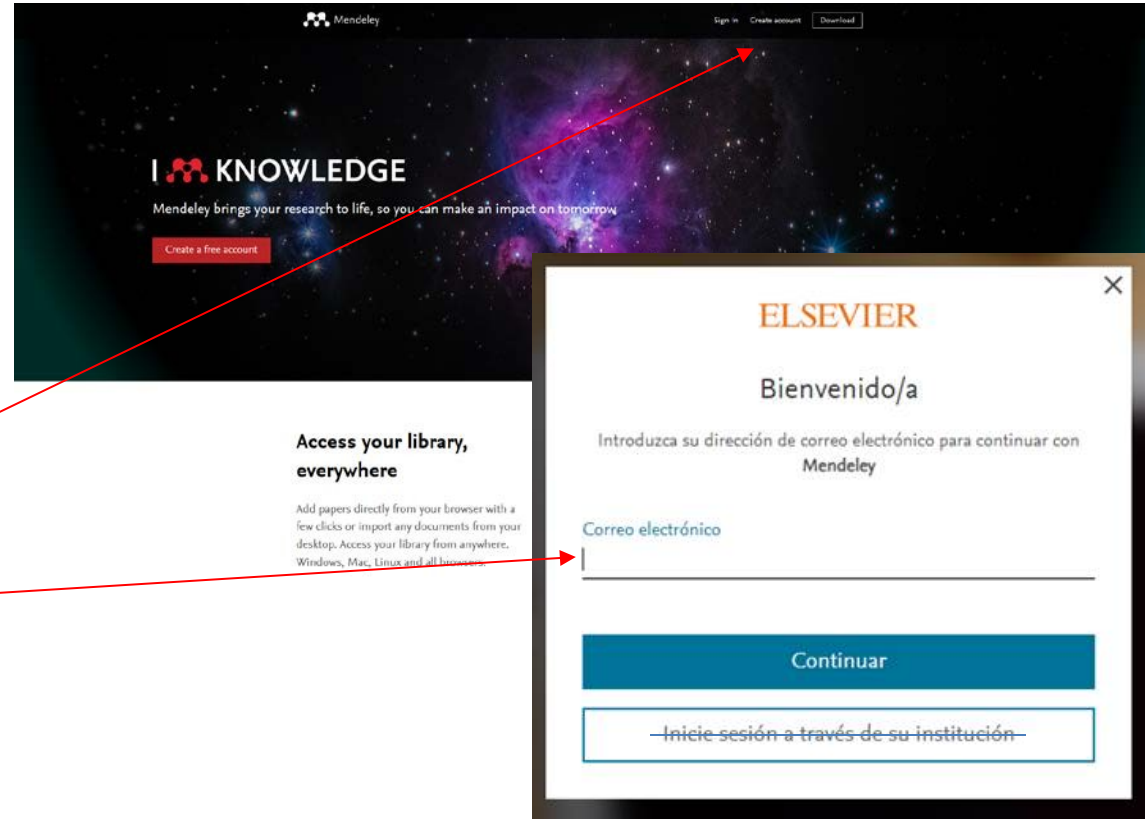

Mendeley: create an account

You must be connected to the IQS network, and access to the following link: Mendeley
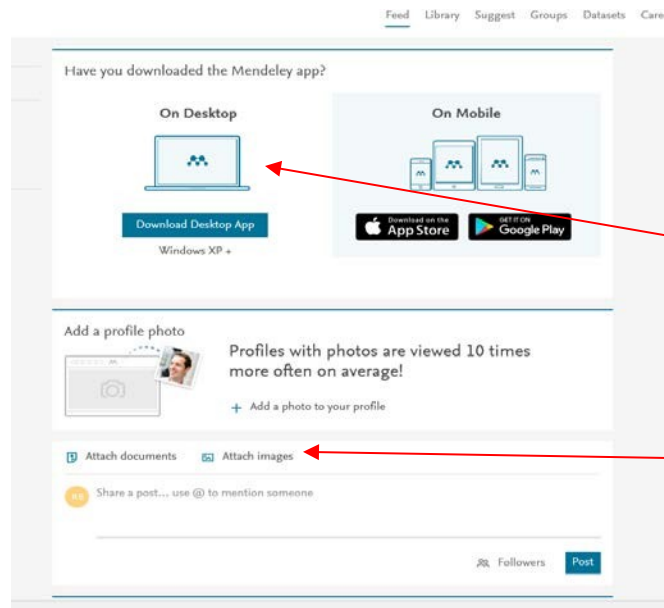

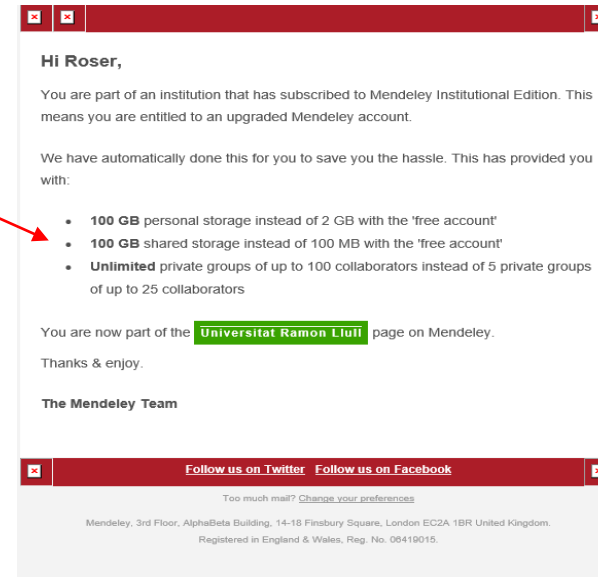

IQS has an institutional version (MIE) with additional advantages that they can only be accessed by registering from our network.

Register with your institutional e-mail (@iqs.url.edu) in the option "Create an account".

To consider!!

The MIE version of the account and its advantages are active as long as continuous use of the resource is made.

After 12 months of inactivity or access from outside the institution, the account will lose these benefits.

The data is not lost, but to reactivate the benefits you must login from the IQS network.
